Almighty and Most merciful God, we this beautiful morning ought to be a most thankful and most grateful people for the wonderful providing that Thou hast made for our redemption in this life. Thou hast provided, Thou hast created the heavens and the earth to make contributions to our physical natures; Thou hast provided abundant resources to feed our mental natures; Thou hast provided schools, colleges, universities, and vast libraries and many other potent agencies, Thou hast provided for our spiritual natures the church with its powerful organizations, great christian institutions and all kinds of religious organizations. Section 5 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are and the same be hereby repealed

And the said bill having been considered three times at length, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it we are now voting on House Bill No. 175.

The SPEAKER. House Bill No. 175, File Folio 217.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, is this the Act entitled "An Act providing for the discharge of persons arrested or held on process issued on a judgment obtained in civil actions?

The SPEAKER. It is.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, this Act makes a very radical change in the law of this Commonwealth as it has existed for over sixty years, and it seems to me that since it makes this radical change it ought not to pass in a peremptory manner. This bill practically abolishes all imprisonment in civil action. If a man utters a foul slander and a judgment of a hundred dollars be recovered and the defendant has no assets, he must remain in jail three months before he is permitted to make his application for discharge. This law will change all that. Under this proposed law there is no imprisonment for debt or for wrongdoing, and it seems to me it would be better for the interests of the people of this Commonwealth if the wrongdoer who is without property and maliciously wrongs his neighbor, should face imprisonment in case he does not have sufficient property to pay the judgment. Therefore, I think this bill ought not to pass.

Mr. LIPSCHUTZ. Mr. Speaker, the thought of this bill is not to affect the procedure as it now exists except in this particular: according to the Act of 1836, now in force and effect, in order that a poor and deserving debtor may be discharged from prison that debtor must remain incarcerated for a period of sixty days. The thought of this bill is that if that individual be without funds that he or his attorney may, by petition, petition the Court and the Court names a day when he is to appear in Court and all parties interested are notified. He is cross-examined and if he has no assets or if he has secreted no assets, the Court may discharge him. It is not peremptory upon the court and not mandatory. According to our old practice a debtor would have to remain in jail until he presented his application. If he has not bail he must remain in prison and he must remain until the expiration of the three months before finally discharged. According to the Act of 1906, a very complicated act, he would have to remain there a considerable length of time, he would be put to considerable expenses and nobody would gain anything from it but the man who has the judgment. This does not abolish imprisonment for debt or affect the lien on the judgment. This is legislation for the purpose of aiding those deserving debtors who are either unfortunate or who have had poor advice and who are in jail either by reason of a judgment unjustly obtained, or through this poor advice.

Therefore, they have an opportunity, by petition, in this matter to thoroughly hear all parties and interests; have an opportunity to examine the defendant and if that defendant should not remain any longer in jail the court may discharge him.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman.

The Speaker. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Lipschutz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LIPSCHUTZ. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, if the word "may" in this Act is interpreted as has now been stated to the House, would that permit the defendant to remain in prison until the Judge saw fit to discharge him?

Mr. LIPSCHUTZ. Mr. Speaker, the word "may" presupposes discretionary power. The Court may at its discretion, if he sees fit discharge—if in a worthy case the Court so sees. The object is not to give a person this opportunity who is not deserving of it but to a man who is bereft of the assets and to him that opportunity is extended to be discharged, if he should be discharged and if he is discharged.

Shall the bill pass finally?

PRAYER.

The Chaplain, Rev. F. W. Staley, offered the following prayer:

Almighty and most compassionate Father, we thank Thee for the minuteness of Thy providence; a providence that numbers the hairs of our head and notices the sparrow that falls to the ground; a providence that is over all of our loved ones; and a providence that has brought us here together to perform the duties as Representatives of the State. And we thank Thee that Thou hast watched over us all. But there is one that has departed this life, an employe, a clerk to one of the committees, who departed this life suddenly; and we learn that he was a faithful employe, a devoted father and affectionate husband; a good man, a christian man; and death was the chariot to him that took him up to repose upon the bosom of his Father and his God; and we would pray for his bereaved widow and children and for his parents; and may they realize that "earth has no sorrow that Heaven cannot heal;" and may we all learn the lesson that "it is appointed unto man once to die" and after that the judgment, and every one of us shall give an account of himself to God. May we make such a record in this life that it will meet with the approval of God, we ask for Christ's sake, Amen.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of the proceedings of February 17th, 1915.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the proceedings of February 17th, 1915, when on motion of Mr. Stern, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal was approved.

PETITIONS.

FAVORING PASSAGE OF LOCAL OPTION LAW.

Mr. WILLIAMS presented the petition of 318 residents of Shamokin, Northumberland County, asking for the enactment of a County Local Option Law.

Referred to the Committee on Law and Order.

PETITION TO AMEND GAME CODE.

Mr. CORBIN presented the petition of sundry citizens of Mifflin County for an amendment of the Game Code.

Referred to the Committee on Game.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I desire to formally present a petition at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears no objection.

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I have been requested by the moral instructor of the Eastern Penitentiary, the Reverend Joseph Welsh, to present to you at this time a very unusual communication addressed to this House, which I believe to be without a parallel in the history of legislative bodies throughout the United States. It is a petition signed by upwards of one thousand inmates of the Eastern Penitentiary, suggesting certain legislation and their reasons therefor. For the further information of the members I would ask that the Clerk read the same, omitting the names.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the petition.

The Clerk then read the petition as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met:

Your petitioners, representing the major portion of the inmates of the Eastern State Penitentiary, of Pennsylvania, respectfully aver:

That they believe fully seventy per cent. of crime within the State is directly attributable to the excessive use of intoxicating liquors, and

That many of them have a personal knowledge of its debasing influence as exemplified in their own lives, and

That, believing if the sale of intoxicating liquors was prohibited by the enactment of laws by your honorable body, that the effect would be to reduce crime at least fifty per cent., if not more, they therefore

Respectfully pray, That you will favorably consider the introduction of any measure having for its object the curtailment of the sale of intoxicating liquors, and use the great power with which you are clothed to secure the passage of an act to prohibit the sale of such intoxicating liquor anywhere within the bounds of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

We further pray, That you will give due consideration to this petition, coming to you as the voluntary deed of a body of earnest men and women, acting entirely on its own initiative, without suggestion from others, and your petitioners will ever pray.

Referred to the Committee on Law and Order.

BILL RE-REFERRED.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I ask permission to return House Bill No. 513 that was inadvertently referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the title of the bill.

The Clerk then read the title as follows:

An Act relating to the satisfaction of mortgages under power of attorney directed to the recorder of deeds.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will re-refer the bill to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I have here about twenty letters asking for a hearing on House Bill No. 275. I have had about thirty personal requests for a hearing. It is a bill about oil and the acid treatment of oil. As the chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry I want to state to the Chair that I know nothing about oil or acids. I have asked a great many of those on Labor and Industry and they know nothing about the subject whatever. I therefore ask the Speaker to refer this bill to the Committee on Mines and Mining.

The SPEAKER. The bill not being in the possession of the House, the Chair cannot again refer it, but would suggest to the gentleman that if he will present this bill tomorrow morning the Chair will very gladly refer it to some committee.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE.

Mr. MATHER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Stone until Wednesday.

Mr. LEIGHNER asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. James O. Campbell, on account of illness, for the week.

Mr. HESS asked and obtained leave of absence for Mr. Berntheizel until tomorrow evening.

RESOLUTION.

FIXING LAST DAY FOR THE INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

Mr. CROMER offered the following resolution, which was twice read and laid over for printing:

Be it resolved, That Wednesday, March seventeenth, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, be fixed as the last day for the introduction of bills in this House for passage at this session.

RESOLUTION.

Mr. WOODWARD offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk:

AUTHORIZING THE APPOINTMENT OF A COMMISSION TO INVESTIGATE CHARGES AGAINST CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS AND VESTING CERTAIN POWERS IN THE COMMISSION.

Whereas, Grave criticism has been directed in the public prints of recent date against the management of certain charitable institutions and

Whereas, The allegations are directed inter alia against institutions to which the Commonwealth biennially appropriates large sums of money and

Whereas, It would be highly improper were such charges to be ignored and the grave danger run of giving state funds to institutions that would make a wrong use of them; and

Whereas, It is incumbent on the appropriation committee of each branch of the General Assembly to eliminate the undeserving applicants for State aid; therefore

Be it resolved (If the Senate concur), That a joint commission is hereby established whose duty it shall be to investigate thoroughly all charges appearing in the public prints recently against institutions of the State, and those receiving State aid, and to report therein in writing as soon as practicable at this session of the General Assembly.

The commission shall consist of the chairman of the appropriation committee of the Senate and the House and of five members from each appropriation committee as may be selected by the respective chairman.

The commission is hereby given authority to issue subpoenas and to compel the attendance and testimony of persons and the production of books and papers. The subpoenas shall be served by the sergeant-at-arms of the House.

Any member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths or affirmations in any matter under consideration by the committee.

On the question,
Will the House agree to the resolution?

REASON FOR INTRODUCING RESOLUTION.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I offer the following as my reason for introducing this resolution at this time and ask to have it read.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the same.

The Clerk read the reasons as follows:

The following criticism of institutions supported in part by the State were published in the Pittsburgh Dispatch of Tuesday, February 16th, and it is owing to these criticisms that the resolution just read has been offered:

STATE CHARITY SYSTEM SCORED.

CHILDREN MISTREATED IN ALLEGHENY ASYLUMS, CHARGED IN LENGTHY REPORT.

"Through its haphazard, chaotic system of appropriating public funds to institutions under private control, Pennsylvania is to-day helping to promote the existence of some institutions which are worse than useless" is one of the concluding statements in a report in which charges of inhuman treatment to children in Allegheny County institutions are made. The report was read yesterday by Abraham Oseroff, executive secretary of the Allegheny County Committee of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, at a meeting of the association at the Fort Pitt Hotel, and is a summary of the report on twenty (20) State and county-aided "subsidized institutions for dependent, delinquent and crippled children" in this county, which has been prepared in detail and will be issued within a few days.

The first criticism is of the "almost total lack of proper investigation before the admission of a child in the majority of the institutions," as a result of which, the report says, the institutions are burdened with children who need never have become institutional charges. The financial records, it adds, are often as poorly managed. It points out the "tendency in the Pittsburgh district to emphasize institutional care, rather than the more modern system of placing out normal children in family homes," and finds fault with the "insufficient co-operation between institution managers and existing agencies for placement of children." The lack of provision for industrial training is condemned.

Unjustifiable punishments for trivial offenses are pointed out. In one institution, the report says, children were locked up in a dark, unplastered dungeon and an old, built-in refrigerator for twenty-four (24) hours on a bread and water diet. When these were filled children were placed with their backs against banisters in the home, with hands tied behind their backs, feet tied to the banister, and permitted to stay in that way for twenty-four (24) hours. They were fed with bread and water, and any crumbs dropped on the floor would have to be "licked up" after the punishment was completed. In another institution, it says, one of the older girls was put head first into a tub of water when she refused to wash dishes allotted to her.

The summary closes with the assertion that "The vicious practices here detailed are permitted and the continuation of inefficiency and mismanagement are permitted by the State of Pennsylvania, which helps to support these institutions. Instead of utilizing the available funds to provide needed care first, for those who are distinctly State wards and now cared for, Pennsylvania through its system of subsidies to private charities, has burdened itself with institutions which are a shame to the State, and a detriment to the charitable system" One recommendation made is that a central supervisory body be provided to remedy defects.

Attorney James H. Gray presided at the meeting, and an address was also made by Attorney Robert D. Dripps, of Philadelphia, executive secretary of the association.

In the beginning of the report of the names of the institutions investigated are set forth, but are not connected with the specific instances detailed later, this however, is done in the detailed report, soon to be issued, except in the case of the "banister" and "dungeon" punishments. Speaking of this matter later Mr. Oseroff said: "Our aim is not destructive critcisim. We point out these defects only that they may be remedied, and we show how they can be remedied, some at no cost to the institutions and some with the co-operation of our committee, or of other bodies which would willingly assist in the work. We have withheld the name of the institution at which the banister and dungeon punishments were meted out, because very recently a new superintendent was appointed there, and she has promised, and we have every reason to believe that she will fulfill that promise, to abolish such punishments. It is not our intention to make complaint to the State Appropriations Committee, but a detailed report is to be mailed to each member.

On the question recurring,
Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I ask for the unanimous consent of the House to have this resolution considered at this time.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I object.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objection and the resolution will lie over for printing.

PRINTER'S ERRORS IN PROPOSED WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to call the attention of the members to the printer's errors in the proposed Workmen's Compensation Act on page 40, Section 310 12th line which reads "alien widowers, parents, brothers, and sisters not residents of the United States shall be entitled to any compensation;" insert the word "not" after the word "shall."

Also, on page 66, Section 410, after the word "or," insert the word "after" instead of the word "before."

BILLS ON FINAL PASSAGE.

Agreably to order.

The House proceeded to the final passage and consideration of House Bill No. 182, as follows:

An Act authorizing boroughs to supply and to make contracts for supplying electric current outside the limits of said borough

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That boroughs which are engaged in making and selling electricity for commercial purposes for the use of their inhabitants may whenever their proper authorities deem it advisable so to do supply and make contracts for supplying electricity for commercial purposes to corporations firms and individuals outside the limits of such borough at rates not less than those established from time to time within the limits of such borough Nothing in this act shall conflict with the corporate rights of any corporation supplying electric light in territory adjacent to such boroughs or with the rights of any other borough.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WALTERS. Mr. Speaker, the object of this bill is to legalize the furnishing of current by boroughs who own their own electric light plants to persons residing at or near them. That is being done by a great many boroughs in the State but could be prevented at the suit of any taxpayer within the borough. Since boroughs, when they engage in the manufacture and sale of electric light, naturally have a monopoly it would be a great hardship to deprive those parts of the Commonwealth lying adjacent to those boroughs from the use of electric current. It is for that reason that this bill is presented so that those citizens of the Commonwealth may have the same privileges that they would have was the corporation supplying electricity to the borough a private one.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Mr. NISSLEY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up from the postponed calendar, House Bill No. 17, File Folio 137, entitled:

An Act to provide for an additional law judge of the several courts of the twelfth judicial district

Bill on final passage postponed for the present.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I was reading the Harrisburg newspapers and in those Harrisburg newspapers it said that there was a great doubt if an additional judge was needed here. Some of the greatest lawyers at the Dauphin County Bar stated that there was no need of an additional judge and that they were against it. I am against this State paying out any more cash than they have to.

Mr. NISSLEY. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that the gentleman from Schuylkill should make that statement. It is true that possibly one of the papers of Harrisburg did state that this was not required, but that newspaper had some say before election and the people of Dauphin County and of the State did not believe it. I hold in my hand clippings from newspapers from this County, from all over the County, saying that this is needed, but I don't want to take the time of the House to read these statements. I have one here, an editorial printed in one of our evening papers, saying our judges are overworked and that our business is away back. The gentleman from Schuylkill referred to a prominent lawyer of this County who said it is not needed. I know that there is one that said that, but I do not know any other reason than that he was tooth and nail against the President Judge of this County when he was elected, and now that he is elected against the wishes of that prominent lawyer he wants to work him to death.

I do not want to go into these statistics I have here to show the number of cases that our courts have to pass on each year, but the records show that they had to sit in open court two hundred and sixty-five days in the last two years, just to hear cases in open court, and that does not take in the argument of cases that they have to try and the argument of cases that are called up as special cases, and then considering the cases that come from the Commonwealth, the courts are so busy that we in our work here can hardly receive attention.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Nissley, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. NISSLEY. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman what do the Judges themselves say?

Mr. NISSLEY. For the benefit of the gentleman from Schuylkill, I desire to say I saw the Judges themselves before I presented this bill and they were satisfied that it should be presented, that one was needed, or I would not have presented it, if I had not first shown it to them and had not had their permission.

Mr. HENRY I. WILSON in the Chair.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 87, entitled:

A supplement to an act approved the twenty-fourth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen entitled "An Act to provide for the personal registration of electors and their enrollment as members of political parties in cities of the first and second classes of this Commonwealth to make such registration a condition of the right to vote in such cities and their said enrollment as members of a political party a condition of the right to vote at primaries in said cities and providing for the payment of witness fees for persons summoned before the commissioners to provide penalties for violations of its provisions and to repeal acts inconsistent herewith"

The said bill having been read at length, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I ask for recognition before the roll call. The act to which this bill is a supplement is not before us for reference, and in order that we may vote with some degree of intelligence upon this bill, I would ask the sponsor to explain to the House or to tell the members what the questions five to fifteen and eighteen to twenty-one, are in the act to which this is a supplement.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this supplement in amending the registration act is to make, in my district, and in the district which it covers, a "permanent resident", therefore, when a man first registers in any one of the districts and answers all of the questions as now contained in the registration act, he shall be considered, so long as he lives in that district, a permanent resident; and after that when he comes to register before the Registration Board it will only be necessary for him, as a permanent resident, to give his name and address and the number of the house in which he lives; if he wishes to enroll, then he goes further on and acknowledges the enrollment. Then he proceeds to the next questions, and so long as he lives in that election district that is all that will be necessary. If he moves from there into another district, it will be necessary for him to answer all the questions. This comes from my district and the people of my district, and even those who prepared the law, acknowledge that the unnecessary questions should be stricken out, which I have proposed in this act, as being really unnecessary, so far as the color of the hair, the height, and weight, etc., are concerned; and every time the party goes to register he is compelled to answer those questions, and that is the purpose of the act—the striking out of that part of it in regard to the color of hair, and eyes, weight, and so forth, whether white or black, and what room you live in, and all such nonsensical questions, when you first register in any election division and that is the purpose of the act. My intention was first to apply it to the cities of the first class, but the representatives of the cities of the second class requested me to amend it to include those cities. With pleasure I amended it to include cities of the second class and it is now on file for your approval and consideration.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

An Act to repeal an act entitled "An Act to authorize and require road supervisors to erect and maintain suitable foot bridges for the accommodation of pedestrians across streams where public roads cross such streams" approved the twenty-third day of April one thousand nine hundred and nine

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Palmer.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate Mr. Phillips, the sponser of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Phillips, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, yes sir.

Mr. PALMER. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman from Clearfield, Mr. Phillips, how the Act of 1874 relative to the provision of foot bridges by supervisors has outlived its usefulness and explain that to the House.

Mr. PHILLIPS. Mr. Speaker, the Act of 1874 does not have anything to do with the proposed repeal of this bill. This is the Act of 1909, an act whereby ten citizens of any township can petition the supervisors of a township to put a foot-bridge across any stream. There are quite a number of townships in this Commonwealth that have many streams and the point I want to raise here is the fact that so small a number of people can create a burden upon the taxpayers of a township that may cost seven, or eight or nine hundred dollars. There is another reason: It says "within six weeks from the time such supervisors must construct that bridge." This may be in winter time and it is almost impossible to construct a bridge at that season of the year. There is also a provision made for the taking care of the public in the building of the bridge; the county appoints a board of viewers to hear the people who have a right to be heard and they have a right to register their protest against anything that they might do. In this Act it only requires ten signers to this petition and this creates a burden upon the county that they cannot get away from. I have in mind a case where ten men crossed the Susquehanna River and asked for a foot-bridge across the river. This would be an expenditure of a good deal of money, if this were absolutely necessary if it should be taken up. This particular Act only applies to foot-bridges across streams and it can be applied anywhere and any place in the Commonwealth.

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented extracts from the Journal of the Senate which were laid upon the table.

The SPEAKER. The Chair will entertain a motion to take a recess until 4.30 this afternoon.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, what is the object of taking a recess? It is going to interfere with several of our committee appointments.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is informed that there are a good many reports to be gotten in and that the bills on third reading that were not on file this morning will be taken up.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I do not think that we will gain any time whatever by cutting into our afternoon committee work, because I think we will have plenty of time tomorrow to handle whatever legislation will be on the calendar on either third or second reading.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that to-night the Hall of the House will be in use.

Mr. BALDWIN. My own judgment is that we can very easily tomorrow handle all bills that will be on the calendar. I suppose we could get some first readings through this evening. However, I am agreeable.

The SPEAKER. If the Gentleman desires, it can be made five o'clock.

RECESS.

HOUSE BILL CONCURRED IN BY SENATE.

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced returned bill from the House of Representatives number and entitled as follows:

House Bill No. 66.

An Act making a deficiency appropriation to the Trustees of Temple University with the information that the Senate had passed the same without amendment.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO THE DEATH OF HONORABLE WILLIAM U. HENSEL.

Mr. Geiser asked and received unanimous consent to present the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk:

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in the death of Hon. William U. Hensel, former Attorney General of this Commonwealth, another great citizen of Pennsylvania has been taken away, and be it further

Resolved, In the taking away of William U. Hensel this State has been deprived of the presence of a most charming personality, a man of integrity of the highest degree, a man of eloquence, of unusual literary ability, a man deeply learned in the law and a fellow citizen who ever held this Commonwealth in the greatest love and reverence, and whose ethical standards were ever of the highest nature, and be it further

Resolved, Inasmuch as Pennsylvania has been bereft of one who at one time filled one of the highest and most difficult and trying offices in the State, it is but fitting that this body should publicly evince some token of the great respect and esteem in which he was held by his fellow citizens; therefore be it

Resolved, That when this House adjourns this week it adjourn in memory of the late William U. Hensel former Attorney General of Pennsylvania, and be it

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House, and a copy thereof be sent to the family of the deceased.

Mr. GEISER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this resolution be adopted at once.

Mr. HESS. Mr. Speaker, and members of the House, it is with deep regret and sadness that I arise to second this motion. In the death of William Uhler Hensel, Lancaster has lost its foremost citizen and the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania one of its most worthy sons. He brought to the field of his various activities a strong body and a vigorous mind. As an editor he proved to be one of the most versatile of the men of letters. His contributions to the literature of his day reflect a scope of vision that makes the reason for his greatness plain. His great soul dwelt on the borderland of the infinite and as he caught glimpses of the larger life beyond he sketched them with his pen that they might serve as beacon lights to guide his fellow men along life's way. As a lawyer he was a leader not only of the bar of Pennsylvania, but of the Union. His general learning and his professional ability deserved and received the respect and the admiration of all who knew him. His genial personality won for him the love of all who knew him well. As Attorney General he reflected lustre upon the office and established an ideal that his successors can be proud to follow. As an historian his great heart found its best expression. His busy life was not permitted to crowd out the opportunities he sought to study the characters of those who have gone before and whose efforts have made this Commonwealth what it is, and his home county and the State at large can well be proud of the numerous shafts and tablets that mark the surging tide of history as Quaker and Mennonite and Scotch Irish coped with the antagonism of a wilderness to make of it a "Land of Flowers." But the richness of his life becomes more apparent as we study him as a man. Of him it can well be said that he was a true friend and that to know him was to love him. From the grind of a busy professional life he would frequently turn aside to extend to a fallen friend a strong arm, and much of the joy of his life was won by sharing his great strength with his weaker fellow men. At no time was the beauty of his strength more pronounced than in the quiet, patient. resignation, as he saw the forces of decay steal ruthlessly upon him, and when the end was near he bowed his head in patient submission to the will of Him, "who doeth all things well."

William Uhler Hensel is dead, but his eloquence and influence still lives. England has had her Gladstone; Ireland has had her O'Connell, and Lancaster has had her Hensel.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the adoption of the resolution?

It was unanimously agreed to.

RESOLUTION NO. 7.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 7 at this time.

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the resolution

The Clerk then twice read the resolution which was agreed to, as follows:

Authorizing the appointment of a commission to investigate charges against charitable institutions and vesting certain powers in the commission

Whereas Grave criticism has been directed in the public prints of recent date against the management of certain charitable institutions and

Whereas The allegations are directed inter alia against institutions to which the Commonwealth biennially appropriates large sums of money and

Whereas It would be highly improper were such charges to be ignored and the grave danger run of giving state funds to institutions that would make a wrong use of them and

Whereas It is incumbent on the appropriation committee of each branch of the General Assembly to eliminate the undeserving applicants for state aid therefore

Be it resolved (If the Senate concur) That a joint commission is hereby established whose duty it shall be to investigate thoroughly all charges appearing in the public prints recently against institutions of the state and those receiving state aid and to report therein in writing as soon as practicable at this session of the General Assembly

The commission shall consist of the chairman of the appropriation committee of the Senate and the House and of five members from each appropriation committee as may be selected by the respective chairman

The commission is hereby given authority to issue subpoenas and to compel the attendance and testimony of persons and the production of books and papers The subpoenas shall be served by the sergeant-at-arms of the House

Any members of the committee shall have power to administer oaths or affirmations in any matter under consideration by the committee

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION NO. 6.

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up Resolution No. 6, file folio 1679, at this time.

The Clerk then twice read the Resolution as follows:

Fixing last day for presentation of bills

Be it resolved that Wednesday March seventeenth one thousand nine hundred and fifteen be fixed as the last day for the introduction of bills in this House for passage at this session

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Resolution?

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker, my object in presenting this resolution to the House is to expedite its business, believing that if all the bills that will be considered at this session are in by the 17th of March that we may reasonably hope for adjournment about the middle or at least in the last week of April. We have been in session for two months and have not accomplished as much as we might. I also desire to gently and politely remind the Senate that the General Assembly of Pennsylvania convenes at Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, and not in Atlantic City nor San Lucia, Florida. Mr. Speaker, I wish to state further that you have no doubt observed that this House is composed almost entirely of business and professional men who are neglecting their business or their practice. as the case may be. to serve this Commonwealth, and we earnestly hope that the business of this session may be concluded as speedily as possible. I understand further that this resolution may embarrass the administration and as I have no desire to embarrass the administration or any member of the House, and to prove that I have no such desire and that I don't mean to do anything that is detrimental to the public and, therefore, say that I am in favor, Sir, that this resolution be referred to the Committee on Rules and I make that as a motion.

Mr. RONEY. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I suggest that the Committee on Rules make it a concurrent resolution, if they are going to report it out. It will not have any force unless they do.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

VOL. 3. HARRISBURG, PA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1915. No. 19.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

WEDNESDAY, March 3rd, 1915.

The House met at 10:00 o'clock A. M.

The SPEAKER (Charles A. Ambler) in the Chair.

PRAYER.

Rabbi Charles J. Freund, of Harrisburg, offered the following prayer:

Our God and Father, Thou who wast ere light was formed! Thou who hast said the word and the world came into being! Thou who hast set man as the crowning work of creation! Our thoughts are directed to Thee at this time.

In the activities about to be resumed here we recognize Thy guidance and seek Thy assistance. Thanks well to our lips for all the boons and privileges that come to us from Thee; for the privileges of living in this free country where freedom of conscience is our most highly treasured gift; for the homes which dot our fair land and for all the good influences that emanate from them.

Be with the members of this great legislative body as they gather here to promote the welfare of this great Commonwealth. Be with the officers, that wisdom guide them in their judgment. May they all work harmoniously together that they prove worthy of the high trust reposed in them.

Bless our country that it may ever be a stronghold of peace and an advocate in the councils of nations. O, God, hasten the dawn of the day when firmly shall be established, Peace through Justice and Justice through Peace; when all shall recognize Thee as their Father, themselves as Thy children, and shall recognize the spark of divinity in all created in thy image.

Fervently we invoke Thy blessing for this, our country, and our nation. Guard them, O God, from calamity and injury. May their adversaries not triumph over them; but may the glories of a just, righteous and God-fearing people increase from age to age. Enlighten and sustain with Thy power those whom the people have set in authority; the President, his counsellors and advisers, the judges, law givers, and executives, and all those who are entrusted with the guardianship of our rights and liberties. May peace and good will obtain among all the citizens of our land. May religion shed its blessing among us and exalt our nation in righteousness. Amen.

providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" relating to the power to confer academic degrees honorary or otherwise and extending the same to all schools of similar grade in school districts of the first class

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That section one thousand seven hundred and fifteen in article seventeen of an act approved the eighteenth day of May Anno Domini one thousand nine hundred and eleven entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" which reads as follows

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MILLIRON. Mr. Speaker, to my mind this bill, or this act, is one that should not become a law of the State of Pennsylvania. If you read the bill carefully you will notice that it gives to all High Schools of the State the power to confer degrees, either honorary or otherwise. The School Code provides and classifies the High Schools in this State in three classes, high schools of the first class, consisting of four years, high schools of the second class of three years, and high schools of the third class of two years. I do not believe there is a gentleman in this House today who wants to give to the two year high schools the power of granting the same degree as the universities and colleges of this State. It seems to me that if we want to cheapen the higher institutions of learning of this State, we cannot do it in any better way than in passing this act giving the high schools the power of conferring these degrees. Every educational institution in this State has its purpose, it has its mission, and it has its sphere in which to work, and they are valuable in that sphere. But a degree carries with it prestige ;it carries with it privileges that are worth striving for and it is not fair to the man or woman who goes through a university or college course to be placed on the same basis as a boy or girl who simply graduates from a little township high school in one of the district counties. Therefore, I ask the members of this House to consider this bill carefully before casting their vote in favor of it. I want further to state, as a point of order, that this bill is deective in the fact that the title is defective. The bill has been amended but the title has not been amended. You will notice in the title of this act that it applies only to school districts of the first class, but the bill itself applies to all high schools in this State. Therefore, I claim that the bill is defective in that the title is not correct and does not agree with the bill.

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, in order that all the members of this House may thoroughly understand the purpose of this bill and the point which the gentleman has raised, that the title may be defective, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. H. I. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

It was agreed to.

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 259, as follows:

An Act to amend an act approved the seventh day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen entitled "An Act relating to and regulating motor vehicles and vehicles trailing after or propelled by motor vehicles controlling their speed upon the public streets and highways in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for their registration and licensing of certain operators by the State Highway Department prohibiting the operation of any motor vehicle by any person when intoxicated or without the consent of the owner forbidding the passage of any law laying a tax upon or requiring the registration of motor vehicles or licensing of any operator or regulating the speed of motor vehicles by any county borough city incorporated town or township establishing the rights of motor vehicles upon the public highways with relation to other vehicles providing for their equipment and for the width of tires to be used upon motor vehicles and vehicles trailing after or propelled by motor vehicles regulating the service of process and proceedings in actions for damages arising therefrom providing for arrest and for service of process and proceedings for violation of this act prescribing the penalties therefor and providing for the disposition of fees collected and fines imposed thereunder"

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That the eighth section of an act approved the seventh day of July one thousand nine hundred thirteen entitled "An Act relating to and regulating motor vehicles and vehicles trailing after or propelled by motor vehicles controlling their speed upon the public streets and highways in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania providing for their registration and licensing of certain operators by the State Highway Department prohibiting the operation of any motor vehicle by any person when intoxicated or without the consent of the owner forbidding the passage of any law laying a tax upon or requiring the registration of motor vehicles or licensing of any operator or regulating the speed of motor vehicles by any county borough city incorporated town or township establishing the rights of motor vehicles upon the public highways with relation to other vehicles providing for their equipment and for the width of tires to be used upon motor vehicles and vehicles trailing after or propelled by motor vehicles regulating the service of process and proceedings in actions for damages arising therefrom providing for arrest and for service of process and proceedings for violation of this act prescribing the penalties therefor and providing for the disposition of fees collected and fines imposed thereunder" which reads as follows

Age Limit

"Section 8 No person under sixteen years of age whether the owner of a motor vehicle or not shall operate any motor vehicle upon any of the public roads streets or highways of this Commonwealth" is amended to read as follows

Age Limit

Section 8 No person under the age of fifteen years shall unless accompanied by a regularly licensed person operate a motor vehicle upon any of the public roads streets or highways of the Commonwealth No license shall be granted to any person between fifteen and eighteen years of age unless the competency of said person to operate a motor vehicle shall be shown by an affidavit of three persons one of whom shall be the parent or guardian of said applicant and the other two shall be two persons who are each licensed owners of motor vehicles

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DELL. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. McVicar permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. DELL. Mr. Speaker, I should like the sponsor of this bill to explain briefly its merits.

Mr. McVICAR. Mr. Speaker, this bill briefly enables corporations, fraternal, and beneficial societies having supreme and subordinate lodges, not for profit, to change their principal office from the county in which they are incorporated to another county upon filing a notice in the county in which they are incorporated and a notice in the county in which they propose to be moved, and in the Insurance Commissioner's office of the Commonwealth. The purpose is, because of the fact that the membership and officers of these lodges sometimes change so that it becomes more convenient and practical to have the office in another county, and I might add that the Insurance Commissioner of the Commonwealth thinks it is a desirable change in the law.

NAYS—0.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 308, entitled:

An Act fixing the fee for marriage license

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I am opposed to raising the price and discouraging matrimony. Matrimony is an ordinance that is encouraged by the State and blessed by the Church. We should not do anything to discourage our young men from marrying; in fact, I know a lot of young men now that if they don't get married soon it will be too late and I don't think we should discourage these young men.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Smith.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Smith, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEE SMITH. Mr. Speaker, with pleasure.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know if the gentleman from Fayette who introduced this bill is married or single.

Mr. LEE SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am willing to answer that question upon one condition which I think is fair and that is that my interrogator shall state whether he is married or single first.

Mr. WALTER. Mr. Speaker, I am married.

Mr. LEE SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am single.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. LEE SMITH. Mr. Speaker, certainly.

Mr. SNYDER. Mr. Speaker, I should like to know if the gentleman has ever been jilted.

Mr. LEE SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I do not know whether I shall answer that.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would inform the gentleman that he need not incriminate himself.

Mr. LEE SMITH. Mr. Speaker, there may formerly have been a condition where this privilege may have been considered worth not over one dollar. If there are no further questions to be asked me, I would like to make a statement in regard to this bill.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Fayette.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated further?

Mr. LEE SMITH. Mr. Speaker, certainly.

Mr. W. H. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, I would like to have the gentleman from Fayette inform the House whether he is in personal danger of any immediate matrimonial alliance.

Mr. LEE SMITH. Mr. Speaker, as I understand it I am not required to answer any questions that lead to personal incrimination.

The merits of this bill are this: As I understand it, the Legislature of 1913 amended the marriage laws, requiring of the person who issues the marriage license at least twice the amount of work that formerly was required. If twice the amount of work is now required there ought to be twice the amount of pay. The persons in authority who have been issuing marriage licenses throughout the State, many of them, think that they are not being sufficiently paid and they have requested that the fee be increased commensurate with the amount of labor required of them at this time.

Just recently there has been another bill introduced to cover all phases of the marriage laws, and if that bill should become a law it will easily include this, and if all of the marriage laws, including the licenses and fees relating thereto (are included in the one bill) it will prevent an incumbrance of the record and make one law to take the place of all the others, and at this time, if it is not out of order, I would move you that further consideration of this bill be postponed indefinitely until the other bill is returned.

MR. KITTS IN THE CHAIR.

Mr. FORSTER. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

On the question of agreeing to the motion,

A division was taken, 43 voting in the affirmative, and 95 in the negative.

And the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. BALDWIN. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

The SPEAKER. The motion is not in order.

Mr. BALDWIN. I understood the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Smith, to move postponement of the consideration of the bill indefinitely; am I not correct?

The SPEAKER. The Chair withdraws his decision.

Mr. URICH. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. WALTON. Mr. Speaker, I move that the further consideration of this bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. WILDMAN. Mr. Speaker, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to report a bill from Committee at this time.

The SPEAKER. Is there any objection? The Chair hears none, and the report will be received.

Mr. SPANGLER, from the Committee on Judiciary General, reported as amended, House Bill No. 27, entitled:

An Act relating to county officers in counties having less than one hundred and fifty thousand inhabitants and providing for their salaries and the compensation of deputies and clerks in the respective county offices requiring the payment into the respective county treasury of the fees of county officers and providing penalties for violation of this act.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I now move that five hundred extra copies of this bill be printed for use of the members.

The SPEAKER. I think the gentleman can make that motion when the bill next appears on the calendar.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, if I am in order at this time, it is my purpose in making this motion now to have the printer print an extra number of bills at the same time that he prints the regular original quota. I believe that it would save extra trouble and extra time and confusion, if my motion is entertained and agreed to at the present time for the extra number of bills.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is of the opinion that the bill is not properly before the House unless the gentleman from York secures unanimous consent to place it before the House.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that the House entertain a motion for the printing of a certain number of extra copies of this bill.

Mr. LANIUS. Mr. Speaker, I object on the grounds that it is clearly set forth that this bill is not constitutional and the State should not be put to the cost of printing those bills if that be true.

The SPEAKER. The Chair hears objections.

HOUSE MESSAGE.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented extract from the Journal of the House of Representatives, which was laid on the table.

RESOLUTION REQUESTING THE CONGRESS OF THE UNITED STATES TO ENACT LEGISLATION PROVIDING PLAN FOR THE PREVENTION OF FLOODS ALONG THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER.

Mr. PLYMOUTH W. SNYDER offered the following resolution, which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary General.

Whereas, The frequent floods of the Mississippi River, caused by waters from thirty-one states, embracing more than forty-one per cent. of the total area of the United States, result in great loss of human lives in portions of the States of Illinois, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi, Missouri, Arkansas and Louisiana, and large money losses, not only in such afflicted territory, but in other portions of the nation, and

Whereas, It has been declared by every member of the Engineer Corps of the United States Army who has dealt with such floods, by the Mississippi River Commission and by other commissions appointed by Congress that such floods can be prevented at a reasonable cost, and

Whereas, The work of such flood prevention has been going on for many years in the least economical way and over two-thirds of its cost has been borne by the damaged sections who can no longer cope with this giant problem without effective aid from the National Government, and

Whereas, All political parties have declared in their campaign platforms that flood control of the Mississippi River is a national duty, therefore

Be it resolved (If the House of Representatives concur), That the Congress of the United States be, and is hereby requested to fulfill this national duty at its next session and to enact such legislation as shall provide a separate and comprehensive plan for the prevention of such floods without delay, and

Be it further resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, to the President of the Senate of the Congress of the United States and to each member of the Senate and House of Representatives of this State in Congress.

RESOLUTION CALLING UPON THE WATER SUPPLY COMMISSION FOR INFORMATION RESPECTING THE WATER RESOURCES OF THE STATE.

Mr. CHARLES A. SNYDER offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Judiciary Special.

Whereas, The procuring of a pure and adequate water supply for municipal and domestic uses is becoming in this State an increasingly difficult problem; and

Whereas, It may become necessary for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to assume ownership of the sources of such water supply or to lend additional protection to such supply not under State control; and

Whereas, It is desirable to have a schedule of such water sources and water supply, and information in relation thereto, as complete as it is possible at present to make, and to continue the study of this subject for the purpose of furnishing additional information to the people of Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Be it resolved by the Senate, that the State Water Supply Commission be directed to furnish to the Senate on or before the 10th day of April, 1915, a complete schedule of the sources of water supply present or inchoate, of which it has made studies and collected data, and in which report the Commission shall set forth the following information:

1. The location of the supply, indicating whether it be a lake, a pond, a spring, or a stream arising from any of these sources.
2. A statement of the elevation above sea level of all such sources of supply.
3. The dimensions of the lake, pond, or spring, with a statement of the volume of water which it normally contains and the volume of water flow issuing from said source and passing onward as stream flow.
4. A statement of the degree of fluctuation to which said supply at present is subject.
5. The approximate drainage area from which the water forming said supply is derived.
6. The kind of rock strata and the geological formation from which said supply is derived.
7. The character of the land forming said drainage area, stating whether it is agricultural land or wild land, either denuded or forested.
8. A statement of the ownership of such drainage area, whether public or private, and the approximate value of the land, if known, surrounding the source of said supply
9. A statement as to whether or not said water supply receives contamination at its source or at points lower down, the character and amount of said contamination, if known, and whether it is continuous or intermittent.

10. A statement of what would be required to prevent such contamination and who would be chargeable with the expense of such prevention.

11. A statement of all the lakes, ponds, springs, or streams comprehended in this report which are at this time held in public ownership.

Be it further Resolved, That the Water Supply Commission be directed to continue the collection of data relating to water supply for domestic and municipal purposes along the lines indicated herein, and report the result of its findings to the Senate at the beginning of the session of 1917.

RESOLUTION CALLING UPON THE WATER SUPPLY COMMISSION FOR INFORMATION RESPECTING THE WATER RESOURCES OF THE STATE.

Whereas, The procuring of a pure and adequate water supply for municipal and domestic uses is becoming in this State an increasingly difficult problem; and

Whereas, It may become necessary for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to assume ownership of the sources of such water supply or to lend additional protection to such supply not under State control; and

Whereas, It is desirable to have a schedule of such water sources and water supply, and information in relation thereto, as complete as it is possible at present to make, and to continue the study of this subject for the purpose of furnishing additional information to the people of Pennsylvania, therefore be it

Resolved by the Senate, That the State Water Supply Commission be directed to furnish to the Senate on or before the 10th day of April, 1915, a complete schedule of the sources of water supply present or inchoate, of which it has made, studies and collected data, and in which report the Commission shall set forth the following information:

1. The location of the supply, indicating whether it be a lake, a pond, a spring, or a stream arising from any of these sources.
2. A statement of the elevation above sea level of all such sources of supply.
3. The dimensions of the lake, pond, or spring, with a statement of the volume of water which it normally contains and the volume of water flow issuing from said source and passing onward as stream flows.
4. A statement of the degree of fluctuation to which said supply at present is subject.
5. The approximate drainage area from which the water forming said supply is derived.
6. The kind of rock strain and the geological formation from which said supply is derived.
7. The character of the land forming said drainage area, stating whether it is agricultural land or wild land, either denuded or forested.
8. A statement of the ownership of such drainage area, whether public or private, and the approximate value of the land, if known, surrounding the source of said supply.
9. A statement as to whether or not said water supply receives contamination at its source or at points lower down, the character and amount of said contamination, if known, and whether it is continuous or intermittent.
10. A statement of what would be required to prevent such contamination and who would be chargeable with the expense of such prevention.
11. A statement of all the lakes, ponds, springs, or streams comprehended in this report which are at this time held in public ownership.

Be it further resolved, That the Water Supply Commission be directed to continue the collection of data relating to water supply for domestic and municipal purposes along the lines indicated herein, and report the result of its findings to the Senate at the beginning of the session of 1917.

PRAYER.

Almighty God, Thou art a just God, Thou art a righteous God; Thou has ordained the government, preserved the State and revealed Thy Fatherhood unto us, first in the person of Thy only begotten Son. To-night, as representative men, we stand in Thy presence, asking Thee to give us a broader vison, lit up with Thy light to see deep into the perplexing questions agitating so many minds in this great Commonwealth. We pray Thee, that Thou wouldst give us a larger mind filled with Thy wisdom to know and understand our relations to our fellow men and to apply those relations and to be just to them, and at the same time be true to our convictions. We pray Thee, O God, to endow us with an enlightened conscience—a conscience that may know what is right and what is wrong, and may we be fearlessly true to those convictions in the performance of all our duty. May we fear only Thee, we ask for Christ's sake, Amen.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO THE LAUNCHING OF THE BATTLESHIP PENNSYLVANIA.

Mr. WOODWARD offered the following resolution which was twice read considered and agreed to:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Whereas, On the sixteenth day of March in this year, a battleship of the United States bearing the name Pennsylvania will be launched at Newport News, Virginia; and

Whereas, It is customary and proper that each state be represented officially at the launching of a battleship bearing its name; and

Whereas, It is usual and proper that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be officially represented at the launching of the battleship Pennsylvania on the sixteenth day of March in this year; therefore

Be It Resolved (If the Senate concur) That those who shall officially represent this Commonwealth at the launching of said battleship shall consist of the Governor, the Lieutenant Governor, the President pro tempore of the Senate, and ten members of the Senate selected by him, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and fifteen members of the House selected by him, and such other guests as the Governor may desire to invite. The expenses to be paid out of the contingent funds of the Chief Clerk of the Senate and of the Chief Clerk of the House in equal amounts.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO PETITIONS.

Mr. H. I. WILSON offered the following resolution, which was read by the Clerk:

Whereas, Within the last four weeks the citizens of Pennsylvania have sent through the mails communications in vast numbers asking for legislative action on certain measures; and

Whereas, Due to the excessive number of these communications the time of the members has been largely consumed in opening and considering them; and

Whereas, Through lack of time to differentiate between communications of this nature and the private correspondence of the members, valuable papers and documents have gone astray and in many instances have been lost; and

Whereas, Owing to the fact that the members cannot without great expense hire persons to take care of correspondence so volumnious in its nature, the care and attention personally required distract the members in the performance of their duties and materially decrease their efficiency as representatives of the people in the legislative work; and

Whereas, Through well-meaning but misguided zeal the efforts made to influence the members of the General Assembly might possibly result in a consummation materially different from that intended by those who direct the communications to the members; therefore

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania, that not wishing to deny or abate in the slightest the right of every citizen of Pennsylvania to address petitions to the General Assembly for the redress of grievances or other proper purposes it is the sense of this body that should hereafter any concerted movement be planned to address communications in large numbers to the members of the General Assembly for any purpose such communications instead of being sent through the mails should be collected in convenient packets and directed to the particular member in order to obviate any possibility of confusion with his ordinary correspondence and to enable him to divide his time justly and equitably between and among the various parts of his legislative work.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

Mr. H. I. WILSON. Mr. Speaker, while I do not think the resolution requires any explanation I feel duty bound to say this: that within the last ten days I alone have received in the neighborhood of ten thousand letters upon one particular subject, and I know of many other members who have received many thousands of letters. The resolution as read expresses my sentiments on that subject. I understand there are many more letters to follow and I try to set the wheels in motion to make it convenient for us to receive these letters in another way. I do not wish to deny the privilege of any man or any citizen or any organization or any plan of any person to keep them from doing that which will furnish us with information as to how they want things done here. But I do hope that the citizens of this State will take into consideraion that we have many things to do, not just the few things in which they are interested. We have no power to compel. This is a polite request only. I hope the House will adopt this resolution.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Mr. President, I have no desire whatsoever to oppose this bill, but I confess I am in complete ignorance as to the purpose of it, and I believe other members of this body are in the same position. I wish to inquire from the sponsor of the bill what good purpose this bill would serve if it became a law.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Salus, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, I will. What does the Senator want to know?

The PRESIDENT. He wants to know the purpose of this bill, what purpose is intended to be served by this legislation.

Mr. SALUS. Mr. President, there is now on the statute books a similar act to this, prohibiting the sale of sheep and lambs with the hoofs and heads on the sheep. The purpose of this act at this time is a health and sanitation measure. The idea is to prohibit the sale of sheep, calves and lambs in this Commonwealth with what is commonly called the pluck on the inside. The idea of that is possibly this: these sheep, lambs and calves are shipped in from the outside communities into our communities here and after they come here many of them are put in cold storage. The lambs and sheep are frozen, the livers, lights and lungs attached to them are also frozen. Immediately after being taken from the storage, possibly within twenty-four hours or so thereafter, these livers commence to thaw and decompose. They are sold to the consumer generally in a frozen state and when taken home by people who have not the refrigerating facilities over night they become sour and putrid, and, in most instances,—and as we all know that sheep's livers particularly are only purchased by the poorer people they bring the stuff into their homes and the next morning they wake up and find out that the stuff that they bought apparently good the night before is decomposed. Now these livers and things can be sold separately and apart from the whole carcass. In addition to that there is sent into this community from the western houses, particularly the sheep and lambs, with what is commonly known as back sticks or stretchers on them. Those that come in from the western houses are backed up generally with hickory sticks. These hickory sticks weigh sometimes two or three pounds, for which the shipper gets maybe forty, fifty or sixty cents for two cents worth of wood, and naturally that makes unfair competition between outside drovers and dealers in these articles as against our local institutions. It simply is an amendment to some extent, to the present act of Assembly and is only for the general benefit of the people within this Commonwealth as a health regulation and also as a fair competition between people in the commonwealth and people on the outside in dealing in these particular articles.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 268, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of article eight of the act entitled "An Act providing for the incorporation regulation and government of cities of the third class regulating nomination and election of municipal officers therein and repealing consolidating and extending existing laws in relation thereto" approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred thirteen

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, for fear some of the gentlemen may not be familiar with this bill I want to call your attention to this fact: This bill is an amendment to the Clark bill passed in 1913. Many of the cities of the third class in Pennsylvania have not had the full privilege of the Clark act in reference to the city treasurer, and will not have until the expiration of the term of office of the city treasurer which occurs this year. We feel in our section of the state that the Clark act should be tried in all cities thoroughly before any amendments are made. Under the Clark act the city treasurer is elected by the councils and is nothing more or less than a tax receiver. The Commissioner of finance under the Clark act becomes the city treasurer, after every provision of the act is operative in third class cities. I trust the members of the House will look this matter over carefully and give the Clark act a fair trial in all cities.

Mr. RININGER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I had thought that this bill would go through this House perhaps with the unanimous consent of all the members. This bill affects only third class cities. By the Clark Act the power is taken from the hands of the people in our cities to elect the City Treasurer and placed with the Council. This act is not popular with the Council in very many of the cities. It is not at all popular with the voters who, previous to the Clark Act, elected their own City Treasurers. We feel in our own city, and I know that the centiment is the same in a great many other cities, that the people are just as competent to elect the City Treasurer. The City Treasurer is not merely a receiver of taxes. He remains the City Treasurer just the same as he did before the enactment of the Clark Bill. The City Treasurer in third class cities today is a member of the sinking fund commission which is a very important commission under the Clark Act. The sinking fund commission is composed of the City Treasurer, of the Mayor of the City and of the Director of Finances and Accounts. Now what do you suppose the treasurer's office would amount to on this commission if two of the men that are serving on the commission with him are the men who elect him to the office. He gives bond for the faithful performance of his duties. He handles the funds of the school board over which the commissioners of the city have no jurisdiction whatsoever; and we feel that when we are creating such officer an election is necessary to offices of that nature by the popular vote of the people, and that in cities of the third class we should be allowed to elect our City Treasurer by a popular vote; and I trust that this bill will have the unanimous consent of all the members of the House.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, two years ago I had the honor to have charge of the Clark Bill on the floor of the House of Representatives. At that time we held the Clark Bill in committee for the period of at least two months. The question of the duties and authority of the treasurer and his relationship to the Commissioner of Finances under that bill were most thoroughly considered in committee and in the House and in the Senate, and after a most thorough consideration of that particular feature we decided that the Treasurer of the City should be under the Commissioner of Finance.

Under the Clark Bill the idea was to concentrate the authority and power of the Council within four members. One of the departments constituted the Department of Finances. We placed, as chairman, or as head of that department, the Commissioner of Finance and we placed as the custodian of the funds, the treasurer of the city. Now I maintain that the Treasurer of the City, under the Clark Bill, is nothing more than the custodian of the city funds. He has no administrative powers. He is under the supervision of the Superintendent of Finances. He cannot pay any of the bills unless they are sanctioned by the Commissioner of Finance and therefore he is considered a subordinate officer.

Now, in recent years, the whole tendency has been to concentrate the power of city government within a few hands and to make those few people who are at the head of affairs, those few who are at the head of departments, responsible directly to the people. Are we going to now, after trying this act two years, are we going to say now that we have started on the wrong track;we have done wrong; that now we should diffuse the powers of the heads of the departments instead of keeping them concentrated as was originally intended by the author of the bill. Further than that, we would make another elective office. The tendency of the times has been to make as few elective offices as possible and the short ballot has been agitated for a number of years

Now I desire to ask the gentleman from Blair what purpose and what good is to be subserved by placing the City Treasurer upon an elective basis. Mr. Speaker it is my opinion, although I do not assert the right to read the mind of the gentleman from Blair, that in his particular county there is a man, perhaps, who cannot be appointed by Council as City Treasurer and he desires to dislocate the whole Clark Act in order that his own selfish purposes might be subserved; and, therefore, Mr. Speaker, I register an absolute negative and absolute opposition to the present bill as it stands, and I trust that the House will vote it down in the interest of good government in cities of the third class.

Mr. SARIG. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the question has been brought up whether we shall follow the tendency of the past ten or fifteen years to concentrate all the powers in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania into the hands of a few men, or whether it is time to turn the tide and turn the government back into the hands of the people where it originally belongs. I, as a representative of Berks County, believe that the time is here when we should turn back. I believe that the people of Pennsylvania are more able today than they have ever been before to take care of their government, and I believe that the tendency to take away all these elective offices and create appointive offices is a tendency in the wrong direction; and I wish to protest and I wish to answer the question as put, that the time is here that we ought to say to the people of Pennsylvania, you are able by your own judgment to elect your own officers, and I believe that this bill ought to go through. I believe that we have gone entirely too far on the theory that the people are not able to take care of their government and that they are not able to elect their own officers. I believe that the tendency towards creating appointive offices has gone beyond its limit, and I believe the time is here when we ought to say to the people of Pennsylvania we have confidence in you, we trust you and we believe you are fully competent to judge this matter and to elect your own officers.

Mr. SPANGLER. Mr. Speaker, I would suggest that the gentleman on the Democratic side direct his remarks to the worthy head of his party, the President of the United States, in respect to giving the government back to the people.

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, as long as the gentleman brings in the Democratic side, I say as a Republican that I believe in leaving it in the hands of the people myself.

Mr. RININGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from York, has brought it out very plainly that I must have had some selfish motive in introducing this bill into this House. I want to say to the members of this House that when I have any selfish motive that I want to satisfy I will not try to satisfy it through a bill in the legislature. I have introduced this bill at the request of the City of Altoona and I have the unanimous endorsement of our electorate in that city in bringing this bill down here.

Mr. GIBSON. Mr. Speaker, coming from a third class city myself, I want to point out one phase of this bill as it applies to third class cities. The Clark Bill is simply being tried out. The people are not unanimous whether it is the best thing or nor. In our section the great objection, and I believe properly so, is the additional overhead expenses the bill has entailed upon the people and there is a question whether it is all justified. Now we all know that in elective offices the salary should be larger than for appointive offices because a man has got to go through a campaign to be elected. This bill provides that the salary of this treasurer to be elected shall be designated by the Council which hardly seems fair, because the man who is elected is at the mercy of the Council after he is elected; but I believe in the interests of economy throughout the third-class cities it would be a grave mistake to make this office elective and I hope the members of the House will not pass this bill.

Mr. MAURER. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, I also represent a third class city and as a representative from a third class city I feel it is my duty to speak on this subject.

The gentleman from York pointed out the care that the session of 1913 took in considering the Clark Bill and tried to infer that because of the fact that they decided that the City Treasurer should be appointed, that that should be sufficient for us; that we should not set aside anything that they might have decided upon two years ago. I can really see no reason why this House should be guided in its opinion by the actions of the sesssion two years ago. I think we have had the advantage, at least, in having this act operate for nearly two years and we have found out in the operation that the City Treasurer should be elected, in our opinion, and I see nothing drastic about this. We have been in the habit of electing them before and I see no reason why we should not elect them again. If any one can point out any great damage done by electing the City Treasurer there would be something to consider, but there is nothing in it. We feel that this is one of the most important positions in the city and we would like to have the privilege of electing our own city treasurer, and I hope, as a representative of a third class city, that this bill will pass. We are not asking much, but we do feel that we should have the right to say who the custodian of our funds should be.

Mr. RAMSEY. Mr. Speaker, I only want to add this to what I have already said. I have no idea at all of any selfish motives in this bill, but if you will remember, the advocates of what is termed "The Commission Form of Government" two years ago practically forced this act upon third class cities, and now the same people, who two years ago wanted a commission form of government, want it all turned over again. I think if we are going to do anything with this commission government we ought to repeal it entirely, but do not let us change it every two years until the people are either thoroughly satisfied or disgusted with it. Let us keep in this provision as to the city treasurer for at least two years more.

Mr. SONES. Mr. Speaker, I take the position taken by the gentleman who has just preceded me. I think this is a matter of responsibility. It is not a question of ability. I believe in the people, or the electorate, exercising the functions of government to the fullest extent, but in this case the people have delegated the power into the hands of councils. This act has been on the statute books but two years, and I believe ought to be given a chance and left as it is. I do not believe in tampering with legislation of this kind, until it has fully worked out. This is the same thing as the School Code. Let this act work out. It is placed in the hands of councils by reason of this commission idea of government that has taken hold of the people. It is not because they are not able, but is because they have placed the responsibility in the hands of councils, and I think we owe it as a duty to the people of this Commonwealth, who have placed it there to leave it where it belongs and see how it works out. We have lots of chance to repeal or amend it if it does not work out. For the present I, for one, voice the sentiments of the gentleman who preceded me and say, "Leave it as it is."

Mr. GARNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Sones, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. SONES. Mr. Speaker, I will.

Mr. GARNER. You were elected by the votes of the people of Schuylkill, were you not?

Mr. SONES. I certainly was.

Mr. GARNER. Are you afraid to leave the responsibility in their hands?

Mr. SONES. I am not, Mr. Garner.

Mr. GARNER. Then why not leave this responsibility in their hands?

Mr. SONES. Mr. Speaker, the people who elected me also elected the council in cities of the third class in this Commonwealth.

Mr. McKAY. Mr. Speaker, I mave the previous question.

The SPEAKER. The motion does not appear to be properly seconded.

Mr. SPANGLER. I just want to explain one thing in connection with this bill. Since the Clark bill was passed the "Third Class City League," consisting of the mayors and city solicitors of all the third class cities of Pennsylvania, had a very extended meeting in the city of Harrisburg, and formulated the amendments, after due consideration, that they believed were necessary for the Clark bill. Among those amendments they did not include the provisions that compromise the bill now being advocated and introduced by the gentleman from Blair.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILLS ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 513, entitled:

An Act relating to the satisfaction of mortgages under power of attorney directed to the recorder of deeds

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. FRUIT. Mr. Speaker, this bill is intended to apply to the satisfaction of mortgages authorized by a power of attorney directed to the Recorder of a county to satisfy the same. As very often happens, a man in receiving a satisfaction of a mortgage, instead of sending it directly to the Recorder to satisfy it of record, put it in his pocket and forgets all about it until some years later when he desires to sell the property; the Recorder has left office; the man who was the mortgagee or the man who loaned him the money has died and it is impossible to get that mortgage satisfied, although everything is paid and done except by publication in the newspapers and petition to court. This is a rather expensive method and the present suggested method simplifies it to this extent, that it empowers any Recorder who may be in office, at the time that the mortgage is desired to be satisfied, that he places the same on record. It is nothing radical but simply is both a time and money saver to the person who believes that his mortgage has been satisfied by simply taking the receipt and power of attorney.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

On the question,

Mr. McKAY. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor for this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Powell, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POWELL. Certainly, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. McKAY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman kindly explain to the House the object of this bill?

Mr. POWELL. Mr. Speaker and gentleman of the House, this bill was sent to me by the Prothonotary of Luzerne County. It amends an act that was passed in the Session of 1911 that placed the sole duty upon the prothonotary and his chief deputy of administering oaths and affidavits. The Prothonotary wants this amended so that he can appoint any one in his office to administer the oaths and take the affidavit. It does not create any new positions. It does not create any increase in salary. The sole thing is to deputize more deputies to do the work, as he sees fit, in his office.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. CROMER. Mr. Speaker, as the sponsor of this bill I just want to offer a word of explanation. This bill will give the janitors of the districts of the first class permission to present a proposition to the school board. It does not bind the school board to accept any proposition, but just simply gives permission to them to present this proposition.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Section 2 As soon as convenient after the first election the successful candidates shall cast lots for priority of commission and certify the result to the Governor who shall issue their commissions in accordance therewith and the same course shall be pursued whenever thereafter two or more judges are elected at the same time Provided however that the judge who is re-elected shall not cast lots for priority of commission but shall retain the position and rank as to priority of commission which he held at the time of his re-election

Whenever it is reasonably possible the full bench of seven judges shall sit at the hearing and shall also take part in the examination and decisions of each appeal but four judges shall be a quorum and may conduct the business of the court

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. GRAHAM. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, the purpose of this act is to amend the act of 1895 which is the act that organized the Superior Court. The particular section of the act of 1895 that it is proposed to amend is section two. Now, section two provides for the priority of the judges in that court. Priority of judges is important, gentlemen, only in that it determines who shall be the President Judge of that court. As the law now stands, priority depends upon years of service, but accordingly to the terms of the act of 1895 a judge who is re-elected, having served an original term of ten years, loses the credit for the ten years which he served; in other words, a judge of the Superior Court who has served an original term of ten years and is re-elected and has served a period of one year on his second term is outranked in question of priority by a judge who has served, we will say, only two years of an original term. Now that appears, gentlemen, to be unjust and the purpose of this amendment is to give to the judges who are re-elected an opportunity to claim credit for the time that they have served in prior terms; in other words, the amendment that is offered here provides that the priority of the judges shall be dependent upon the years of continuous service, regardless of whether part of that service was on a re-elected term.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

The like power to confer academic degrees in arts and science is hereby granted to the board of public education or board of school directors of every school district of the first class which shall establish and maintain public schools or institutions of learning with courses of study at least two years in advance of those required for a high school of the first class

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MILLIRON. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that duty calls me again to say a word against any measure introduced by any member of this House, but when I take into consideration the fact of my sworn allegiance to the public school system of this State, and the duty that I owe to the constituency which I represent in Armstrong county, and to the constituents throughout he State of Pennsylvania, it compels me again to say a word in opposition to this measure. In order that the Members of this House may have a clear conception of what this bill means I want to say that some years ago there was an act on a principle or a provision or whatever you chose to call it that permitted the old Central High School of Philadelphia to confer honorary degrees. I am also happy to state that only one other school district in the great United States has fallen so far beneath the intention of higher education as to take advantage of and ask for the same privilege, and that is the high school in Louisville, Kentucky. These two institutions, gentlemen, have been the subject of ridicule and the laughing stock of this whole country of ours, and when the framers of this school code, which was adopted in 1911, framed the provisions that were to be embraced in this code, it was their intention to eliminate the privilege that has been granted to this school in Philadelphia by eliminating it from the code, and if I am correctly informed, the embodying of this act, which this seeks to amend, was not sanctioned by the framers of the code, but it was passed through the House in some other manner. When this bill was first introduced into this House by the gentleman from Philadelphia, it applied to only districts of the first class. That bill was unconstitutional, because the high schools in this state are classified in three classes. They are regulated by the laws governing high schools, and you cannot regulate a high school in one district without doing it in every district in this Commonwealth. The next draft of this bill included all high schools in all the districts in the State of Pennsylvania, giving a little township high school up here in your county. You gentlemen who are from the rural districts, a township high school with a very meagre force, with a very inefficient faculty of teachers, the same power of conferring a degree as the University of Pennsylvania or the University of Pittsburgh, and that we can not stand for. And the bill is back here again with a new cloak and a new dress. It is the old form of bill No. 1 and bill No. 2 drafted in a new bill as we have it before us to-day, and it not only gives the power that this bill was enacted to give, to the high schools of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, but to every high school in the State of Pennsylvania, to confer these degrees. We have in the Governor's chair to-day a man who has been engaged in the educational field in this state for a number of years, as well as in other states and in other countries, together with the State Superintendent of this State, Dr. Schaeffer? They stood shoulder to shoulder in this state for twenty years trying to bring the degrees conferred by the colleges and universities of this state to such a condition that they would be recognized the world over. That has been accomplished after twenty years of hard work and it is not fair to those men, and it is not fair to the men who have gone through the colleges and universities and acquired their degress by actual service for this Legislature to pass this act and to give to the high school graduate the same honor given those who have worked for it and who have graduated from the colleges and universities. This bill is to my mind one of the most iniquitous pieces of legislation that has been before this House. I do not put the blame on anybody. These things are likely to come in here. I want to say to you further, that if that bill had been received in the Committee on Education, there would not have been one vote in the Committee on Education to bring it to the light of day, and I appeal to the Members of this House in the name of fairness and justice to cast their votes in opposition to this measure.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House, in reply to my good friend from Armstrong, I want to say that in the school code at the present time there is incorporated a provision enabling the High School in Philadelphia, the Central High School to confer degrees upon the graduates from that particular high school. This act of mine does not extend that power nor does it wipe out that power; if you defeat this bill, which my good friend from Armstrong advocates, it does not take away from the Central High School of Philadelphia the power of conferring degrees which she has held for sixty-six years or more, and which was granted by the General Assembly of 1849. What is this bill? It was not prepared by me, my friend, but prepared by people who have passed though that high school's educational course, and become prominent, not only in the affairs of Philadelphia and in the affairs of this great state of Pennsylvania, but in the affairs of this great nation of ours, who have received its degrees and entered a college with the understanding that they would not at that time be obliged to pass a preparatory course of two years. Up until the time this wonderful bill that was discussed a few minutes ago in committee, relative to the medical board of education was enacted in 1911, the framers of that law created a higher standard for the student to enter college, and thus the degree conferred by the Central High School of Philadelphia is null and void because no Medical College in the city of Philadelphia will admit the Central High School students, my freind, on the degree conferred by them under the act of this Legislature; and it is necessary for them after they have received that degree to then enter a preparatory school for two years or more, compelling the children of that public school to spend an additional sum of money, often, I say, not having the money to do it with, the children who have passed through these schools and seek a college education, this Medical act passed in 1911, compels those children to go into a preparatory school for two years and pay the tuition necessary to enter college. And what is my act? What is my act, my friend. I heard the word is going around to defeat this bill, but you are going to hear to-day, in my humble way, the purpose of this act. It has been framed by the intelligent educators of Philadelphia. The purpose of this act is to extend the High School course two years. It is for the purpose of permitting the children of poor parents to obtain that two years' course in the college of Philadelphia without paying for it. That is the purpose, my friends, of this bill. It is only to give the City of Philadelphia the power to create the college of Philadelphia in the Central High School and let the children of poor parents receive the tuition necessary to enter them in the Medical College and other colleges without increasing the cost, and it is only fair and just that the poorer children in the public school system can be prepared so that they can enter the college without going into the two-year preparatory course.

That is the purpose of the act, my friends. It is not to wipe out or advance the degree, as my good friend from Armstrong wishes to impress on your minds. It is still in the Code ,and if you defeat the bill it is still in the Code, but I only ask you members of this House to consider it. It is only giving to Philadelphia the power to give those children down there—the graduates of the High School —two years additional course, without imposing upon the parents of those children the additional cost they would be compelled to pay in a preparatory school, and that is only right and fair.

I know my good friends, those who have paid for this higher education, those who have gone into these ordinary schools of preparation and paid the tuition, some I admit through hard work have earned those honors and received their degrees from colleges and graduated, probably they would be a little jealous of this particular bill, but I want to say to you, my friends, don't be selfish in this matter; If we can confer upon our children in the public schools an additional advantage of education without additional cost—let us be reasonable and give it to Philadelphia. That's the only one that confers that particular power. power if they want to start a college and give that two years advanced study. Why, my friends, if I wanted to be selfish in this matter I might say this: that I would not approve of any higher education. I would not approve of it because I, myself was compelled to leave school at the age of ten, in order to help educate or help advance a family of six children. I was compelled to work from that day on, and if I wanted to be selfish in that matter and looked at it and say, because I was unable to receive the proper education—I want to impress upon you that if I wanted to be selfish I would say "No, give nobody any higher eduation in the public schools of our great Commonwealth, except a high grammar education." But no, I am not selfish. Iam willing to concede to the children all the privileges and advantages and opportunities whereby they might be advanced, and it is only fair and justice to give Philadelphia this opportunity and see if she proves successful in that matter.

You are not wiping out degrees. You are not enlarging degrees in any manner, but give it to her, the same as New York has got—the College of the City of New York; the same as Cleveland has got; the same as other cities throughout the nation has got, advancing their children to higher education without the additional cost of higher institutions.

Mr. MILLIRON. Mr. Speaker, I want to say in reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia, that I assure him it is from no selfiesh motive. I am not trying to protect any degree I have. My preparatory course was taken at the old McCrea Furnace in Armstrong County, and I received the degree, the only one I have, and the degree that any boy or girl no matter how poor he is can receive, and that is the degree from the "University of Hard Knocks." That is the only degree I possess, so I assure the gentleman it is from no selfish standpoint. I want to say that it is evident that the gentleman is misinformed in regard to the requirements for entering the colleges and universities of this state. I am not familiar with your high schools in Philadelphia, but we look up to that city as the city of brotherly love, that city of everything good, and I take it for granted the high schools in Philadelphia are on the same level with the first grade high schools in other parts of our state. I can take you to any other part of the state except the city of Philadelphia, into the smallest towns and most sparsely settled townships of this country where there is a high school, and when a student graduates from that high school in the regular course, any college in the state of Pennsylvania will admit him without further examination into the freshman year, and that is why we have this standard of high schools, and that is why these men who have been at the head of this educational work in this State have worked for years so that the poor boy does not have to spend that money in taking an extra preparatory course.

We have a number of vocations and professions. Take the medical profession and the only requirement is a high school education. I am not sure about the legal profession, but if you have that four years high school course—that is providing that your high school is a high school that is recognized as a standard high school of four years, then you can be admitted to any college or any university in Pennsylvania, but you must get that recognition—not from the fact that you are granted degrees. The universities of this State and colleges of any standing ought not to recognize a high school that wants to confer the A. B. or B. S. degrees on students of high schools. No wonder you have to take a two years extra preparatory school course if you graduate from the Central School of Philadelphia. You depreciate the degree that is granted after four years of additional work in the colleges and universities.

If you take a high school anywhere in this State, paying attention to the work that is laid out for that school in that particular sphere and that school having a reputation for proficient work for four years, the colleges and universities will recognize that and admit their students. I do not want to say that this bill is unconstitutional, yet it is crudely drawn, poorly drawn. I have said that a couple of times. I do not want to do that—to say that it is unconstitutional—but I do say this: what are you going to call your high school of six years? Are you going to call it a high school of the first class, or second class, or third class? If you want to establish, as this bill states, a high school, and you call it a high school of six years, you must amend the whole school code and re-classify all the high schools of this State, and instead of there being three classes, there must be four class; the first of six years; the second class of four years; the third class of three years, or four, three and two, or four classes instead of three. I think this bill has been amended enough and I leave that to the gentlemen of the House to decide.

Mr. KUNKLE. Mr. Speaker, I think there are scholars enough in this house to realize what we mean by "Degrees." Those of us who have waded up to our necks in mathematics, and science and history, and all that; through tangents, parabola and hyperbola, logarithms, binomial theorems, regelation, cosmic relations, reaction and reagents and all these other things, fully realize what he means by cheapening the degrees we have secured by four years of hard work, after we had gone through the academy or school, and then only got the degree of A. B., which we now propose to give to boys and girls in trousers, short breeches, before they get to the colleges. Here's a difference with a distinction. If the high schools can grant these degrees in the first or second year and then the student goes to college and works three years longer, he gets nothing from that college but an additional A. B. or B. S. degree.

In European countries we know that the degree must be worked out by writing a book or a thesis, which requires deep and profound research and orignality. It means something there, what we are going to hand out so liberally to the schoolboys of this State, and the schoolboys on the street will run along with our Governor and our great scholars of the State and nation, with the same paper and the same degree that our scholars possess.

Secondly, just as soon as we begin to do that it stifles further research and work of these boys and girls; they think they know it all and they quit right there. Let us go slow. I do not charge anybody with any sinister motives in this bill, but maybe it is only inadvised and not properly considered. Let us go slow.

Mr. GRAHAM. I am afraid that you men are going to vote on this bill without exactly understanding what it is. I am afraid you are going to vote on this bill under the impression that by its terms some degree already existing is going to be cheapened, in other words, that by the terms of this bill it is going to be easier for a man to get a degree. That is an entirely mistaken notion. As the law now stands, graduates of the Central High School in Philadelphia receive the degree of bachelor of arts after a four years course. That is the law as it stands to-day. Our objection to that law is this: that the Central High School in Philadelphia is more or less of a local institution. In other words we have a number of other high schools in the city: high schools in which the course is just as severe, that do not have the advantage of being able to confer a degree on their students. We think, therefore, that provision is unfair. Now the provision is this; the proposition is to take away from the high school the right to confer a degree for a four years course and allow them to confer that degree only after a six years course.

Now, you men, if you know anything about a high school course will know that the four years at high school more than admits a man to college. In other words, a student who has gone through four years at the Central High School in Philadelphia, and who, after that, if this act becomes a law, takes the two years additional course provided by the act, that that student will probably have the same standing of the scholastic world as the graduate of any ordinary college in this State. I say, therefore, gentlemen, that so far as it relates to the Central High School in Philadelphia, this act increases the difficulty of obtaining that degree. It does not decrease the standard of that degree; it increases it to a point where six years is required and I say it brings it up to a standard that is as nearly equal as it can be to any other college in the State.

Mr. BARNETT. Mr. Speaker, I am opposed to the passage of this bill. It discounts the work of our best colleges. The boys and girls of seventeen and eighteen that pass through a petty high school course would come out with the appendage "Batchelor of Arts" or "Batchelor of Science." Another young man of twenty-five spends three or four years in a college and he comes out with the same title, "Batchelor of Arts" or Batchelor of Science." It cheapens the whole thing and takes the meaning out of those titles. Those titles ought to mean something. It ought to mean a degree of maturity; it ought to mean a lot of work well done. When a young man takes four years in college and has passed through mathematics and the sciences and languages and comes out with a mastery of some of those things the title has some meaning to it; but to allow every high school around the country to confer that degree on the boys and girls of seventeen and eighteen years of age, I say, not only discounts the work done by our best colleges but it cheapens the whole thing.

A few years ago I met a North Carolinan who called himself "Colonel" Abernathy, and he insisted that I must call and see him, that I must visit him on his plantation. I did so and not only did he call himself "Colonel" Abernathy but I found the people all around there called him "Colonel" Abernathy and that there were a lot of other people that they called "Colonel." So I said to him one day, "How is this? You are not old enough to have been in the war. How did you get your title of 'Colonel'?" "Well," he said, "No, I was not in the war; I was not old enough for that; but a few years ago they had a big parade in Charlotte. I had the finest horse in North Carolina and they wanted me to lead the procession. I did so and they called me 'Colonel' and ever since then they have called me 'Colonel' Abernathy."

Now, that is a little the style of this "Batchelor of Arts" and this "Batchelor of Science" to the boys and girls who pass through our high schools; consequently, I believe it will be a disgrace to Pennsylvania to send out boys and girls with those titles, who will come up against a man from one of the colleges who has that same title. If the boy and girl can have the title of "Batchelor of Arts" and "Batchelor of Science" what more can the man get who takes a thorough course, a thorough training, and who then becomes a genuine "Batchelor of Arts" or "Batchelor of Sciences" and later on a "Master of Arts" or "Master of Sciences."

Mr. SONES. Mr. Speaker, and gentlemen of the House, I do not propose to go over the grounds that other gentlemen have gone over, but one thought has occurred to me which I did not hear any of the other gentlemen speak of, and that is this fact: All the high schools, city high schools of the present time, who have a course of four years, are known as high schools of the first class. Their students leave that high school when they go to normal school and they must be there as resident students for two years before they graduate from those institutions. Now the normal schools do not think of granting any degree "A. B." or "Batchelor of Sciences." They would not think of doing a thing like that. That is two years in addition to the present high school work of high schools of the first class; and if high schools add two years more and then confer degrees, they will be giving a degree for work for which a boy must give two years more in a college. I believe that we will go down as the laughing stock among educated people of this State and other states if we support a bill of this kind. I, for one, am opposed to it. I am in harmony with the spirit of the high schools in this State. I think they are doing a noble work, yet I believe if the high school faculties of this State were canvassed and asked their opinion of this bill that the majority would say, "No," we want to keep the work within our proper sphere and we are not ready and it is not the province of our high schools to grant such degrees. We leave that to the institutions whose province it is; and gentlemen, therefore, I am opposed to this bill.

Mr. DUNN. Mr. Speaker, I do not want to prolong this discussion or take up much more time on this bill. I only want to impress upon your minds that if this bill is defeated it will not prevent the Central High School of Philadelphia from conferring the degree of "Batchelor of Arts" on the graduates of that particular high school The reason that I presented this bill was because in Philadelphia at the present time we have four or five additional high schools. One is in my particular district, the working people's district of northeast Philadelphia, where the students going to that high school are children of the working class and with the other four additional high schools are deprived of this honor which the Central High School confers upon the students of that particular high school. That is the only right I ask you to extend to the children of my high school and the other four high schools. You will not defeat or take away from the Central High School that power of conferring degrees to that certain class within the boundary of that particular high school. The children within the boundaries of my district who go to the high school in the northeastern part of Philadelphia are deprived of that privilege or that honor. Within the boundaries of the South Philadelphia High School, within the boundaries of the West Philadelphia High School, within the boundaries of all other high schools in Philadelphia County, those children who go through the same course of study as the children in the Central High School are deprived of receiving the degree which the Central High School confers upon their scholars ;and when you defeat this bill, if it is intended to defeat it, you do not take away from the Central High School that honor that is still incorporated in the School Code and you could only take the stand, as it is to-day, that the children within the boundaries of that particular high school should receive that degree while four-fifths of the children going through the same study in the first class City of Philadelphia do not receive that degree. Is that fair? Is that right? That is the only reason that I am here appealing for the interests of the working people of my district and the children of my high school. I think they are just as good and just as much entitled to this privelege or honor if they go through the same course of study as the scholars in the Central High School. This bill amends that act but don't take away that privilege and by defeating this bill you do not take away that privilege but you only increase for two years more the time that the children of my particular section, the West Philadelphia section and the South Philadelphia section can go the Central High School to get what only is conferred on the scholars of the Central High School. That is all we are asking.

Mr. HERMAN. Mr. Speaker and gentlemen of the House, it was not my purpose to say anything relative to this bill. I think enough has been said to show the fallacy of the principle of granting degrees upon a high school course; but I notice that the gentleman, my friend from Philadelphia ,in his argument for his bill does not state that he thinks that the Central High Shool of Philadelphia has a right—that is, that it is an honor to the children who attend that district to have this degree conferred upon them. And I want to say further, if I have been rightly informed, that the reason that this matter was left as it is,—this high school was given this privilege when the School Code was before this House, was because they could not pass the School Code without making some concession, and the Governor of this State was opposed to it, our present Governor, and the Superintendent of Public Instruction; but in order to get that bill passed they committed a wrong; gentlemen, they committed a wrong by allowing this high school the privilege of conferring degrees, and now to-day we are asked to commit another wrong because they did so in 1911; and, gentlemen, I say that is not right. It is not treating the scholar fair. It is putting a premium upon ignorance.

Mr. RICH. Mr. Speaker, I happened to be a trustee of one of our seminaries in this State and we voted to surrender the charter that we had or right we had to grant the degrees of "Batchelor of Arts" and "Batchelor of Sciences." The institution for four years or more had been granting these degrees. We realized that we were exercising a right or authority that did not belong to us, although all graduates of high schools were required to study for two years in the seminary before they were entitled to these degrees: and, realizing this, we surrendered our charter to the State; and if the school that the gentleman complains of in Philadelphia that is exercising this right would surrender its charter to the State, it would relieve them of all that embarrassment.

On the question recurring.

Shall the bill pass finally?

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 291, as follows:

Section 11 All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to amend section 9, in line 3, by inserting, after the word, "misdemeanor" and before the word "Upon" in line 4, the following: "Section 10. Provided that nothing in this Act shall prevent any, or there be more than one, all the proprietors, owners or managers of any hotel, boarding-house or restaurant, from availing himself, herself, or themselves of the employment, services and help therein of any female member of his, her or their family or household, without any limitation whatever as to the hours of the day and the length of time named in this act or any other act," and by renumbering section 10 thereof to read "Section 11."

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. President, I am advised by counsel that the amendment is unconstitutional, being class legislation.

The PRESIDENT. Does the Senator wish to object?

Mr. HACKETT. Mr. President, I do.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair hears objection.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, this act now before the Senate is very comprehensive in its scope. The amendment that I proposed to offer was one that is somewhat liberalizing the act. The act in its second section prohibits any female under eighteen years of age from being employed or being permitted to be employed, either for pay or compensation, or without pay, in any hotel, boarding house or restaurant before the hour of six and after the hour of nine. Now there are tens of thousands of little restaurants in the State of Pennsylvania that are affected by this act, where the proprietor of the restaurant after the hour of nine is aided by some female member of his household under the age of eighteen and a daughter or a sister or a niece or some relative who would be stopped from that service by this section of this act. For instance, if we go to the movies and come out at nine o'clock and go into a restaurant in my own district on Germantown Avenue five minutes after nine in the evening and ask for ice cream and sponge cake, and the seventeen-year-old daughter of the proprietor attempts to serve you that proprietor violates the provisions of this act and is liable to a fine. In all the villages of this great Commonwealth there are numberless little restaurants of that kind that come within the inquisitorial persecuting scope of this act, and the same way with reference to boarding houses. The folly of attempting to regulate a little boarding house that has one star boarder in the little front hall room, whose landlady is a widow aided by one female, a member of the family, under eighteen being prohibited from doing anything after nine o'clock, shows the folly of attempting to regulate a little boarding house by the same act that regulates a palace hotel. It is like the act of 1913, July 25, the factory act, which regulates an insignificant place of employment by the same act that regulates five hundred female operatives in a mill.

Now, something has been said about unconstitutionality. I respectfully submit there is nothing unconstitutional about the amendment I have offered here and which was ruled out. The proposed amendment was not class legislation because these two matters, the lodging houses and little restaurant are altogether in a different class from a hotel. Common sense recognizes that classification, and the law, which is the perfection of reason, recognizes that classification. Now, I do not want to say anything that can be construed into an idea that I am opposed to people getting high wages for few hours employment. I am entirely willing that anyone should be paid as high wages as possible, but I do not believe that the way to increase wages is to shorten the hours of employment or to prohibit certain hours for labor. We cannot juggle with the laws of trade in that way. Temporarily such a measure might increase the wages, but permanently they will seek their own level. Now the Romans said, "The Gods sell all things at a fair price." That was true in the year A. D. 1, and it is true to-day; and we cannot by juggling the hours of labor increase the earnings of the employee. I heartily wish the employee success, but warn him that the passage of such bills as this will not attain that end. He cannot drive too hard a bargain because it will react on him sooner or later in some indirect way it will come back and be a failure. We cannot come here and legislate something for nothing; we cannot by law give a man a good bargain that is going to stand good any more than we can legislate the north star out of place or the sun into darkness. Now this act affects every boarding house. I want to raise an humble appeal here in behalf of the persecuted boarding house. What Senator has not been some time or other an inmate of a boarding house? If there be such an one he is to be pitied. We first pity, then endure and then embrace. Every man sooner or later has fled to it for refuge. Many a time she has ministered to our comfort and the landlady's niece or daughter under eighteen is entitled to consideration. Now gentlemen, in all seriousness, the boarding house industry is an important industry. In New England, in New York, in the summer months, it is an abundant source of revenue to the citizens of those states, and in the summer months to the boarding houses in the Poconos in the mountain resorts, and it is an industry affected by this act, and disastrously affected. Now I do not find in Commissioner Jackson's book, which is a compilation of industries of Pennsylvania, any list of boarding houses, but if they come within the industries of the state and come wthin the purview of this act as they do sooner or later the commissioner will have to get out a directory to cover the boarding houses of Pennsylvania. Dr. Eliot, of Harvard, has a celebrated five-foot shelf that contains the classics of the world. Take them off the shelf and you could fill it with the directory of the boarding houses of Pennsylvania and those books would be more celebrated than Dr. Eliot's classics.

Now this act, as I say, if passed as it is, is incapable of enforcement. What is the result? Regulate these petty restaurants, these one-horse affairs, these household concerns and boarding houses as they should be regulated, as the act contemplates, on the same scale as the palace hotel, we shall have to increase our inspectors in the department of labor and industry. How many hundred additional inspectors will be needed at $1500 per annum and expenses? You cannot enforce the act. The act of July, 1913, is already breaking down for that very reason, because it is too wide in scope and impossible of enforcement. The act of July, 1913, it has been openly charged is violated by university heads in this state and I know that it is being violated by at least one thousand lawyers in Philadelphia who employ female stenographers, so that I say this act is impossible of enforcement.

Now it is a courious thing to me that the present day legislation is against industry and I think it should be the reverse, I think it should be in the contrary direction, that it should favor industry, and encourage business and the manufacturer. To quote from Dr. Watts, who composed that little poem that we learned at the knee of our mothers; "How doth the little busy bee improve each shining hour?" If Dr. Watts were to write that poem to-day he would say, "Each shining hour by virtue and consent of the legislature of Pennsylvania between eight in the morning and four in the afternoon." And I would like to say also that I am in favor of as little work as possible, but these legislatures in shortening the hours of labor, with all due respect, I want to say do not take knowledge of the facts of life. Work is the eternal law of life. We have got to work in this struggle of existence in which we find ourselves. It is as true to-day as in the days of Solomen, that we must consider the ways of the ant, and not consider those ways in certain limited hours but all the time. The men whose pictures are on the walls of our households, are in the adorned public places, fill the books in the libraries, the men whom we honor, were not eight-hour a day men, they were not ten-hour a day men, they were, most of them, fourteen hours a day men, and the women who helped them who were their true and loyal helpmates, the mothers of the present generation, they were not any eight-hour women or ten-hour women, but their work lasted from sunrise to beyond the setting of the sun. Now, our records are filled with appeals to the Senators in various ways to make the State of Pennsylvania great and glorious. The State of Pennsylvania has never been made great and glorious at eight hours a day and ten hours a day men and women. Work is the law of man, work is the law of salvation. That father of the Church in the middle ages who said, "laborare est orare," to labor is to pray, knew that work was sanitary, health and holiness.

Now I say this act cannot be enforced. You should all vote against this act in its present form. Any man who is interested in protecting the small restaurant keepers of a village or a town, any man who is interested in the taxpayer, who desires to check any increase of inquisitorial inspectors who are to visit these lodging houses should vote against this act.

Fellow Senators, in the bill of indictment that our ancestors drew up against George III, one of the counts was that he created innumerable offices and filled them with people who fattened on the substance of the citizens, and government by a bureau with inquisitorial inspectors can be just as tyrannical as a government by a monarchy or oligarchy. Then there is a third class of people who should vote against this bill as it stands, that is the class of people who want to give the young woman a chance to work. These young women who are forbidden to work either for or without compensation and do not desire to be idle, they want to be employed. If we prohibit them from obtaining employment the industrious among them, of course, find some other employment, many of them will be in enforced idleness and others between the ages of sixteen and eighteen after the hour of nine will be put on the streets and that is no benefit to them and for that reason, my fellow Senators, I urge you in its present form to defeat this bill.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I will not take up the question as to whether this bill is unconstitutional or not, but I think the Senator from Philadelphia has read this bill in a manner that has been misleading to himself. As I understand the provisions of this act it is enlarging the scope of the act of 1913, known as the "Woman's Bill" in which there are fifty-four hours under that provision, and this bill as I understand it, increases for the reasons and convenience of the employment of just such persons as he refers to sixty-three hours. Now this is the construction placed upon it by men who are in the business, both as to the small shopkeepers and the small boarding houses and large hotels as they arrived at an adjustment that enlarges the scope of employment from fifty-four hours to sixty-three, distrbuted over the conditions and hours of the day such as described in this bill. If he gets any other deduction from this act, I would like to know as to whether it is not true that it is an enlargement of the hours of employment.

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, it is an enlargement of the hours of employment but it is more drastic as to lodging houses and restaurants than the act of 1913 because it prohibits employment after nine o'clock whether it be voluntary or not. Employment after nine o'clock in the act of 1913 is permitted if it is not for compensation, but if it is voluntary in the lodging houses after nine o'clock it is prohibited by this act now introduced.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, the reason for this bill being drastic in its form is simply because the employers of labor today both in hotels and other walks in life are trying to conform to the act of 1913, and to the ideas of the Commissioner of Labor who will not permit any annulment or amendment taking out the drastic treatment of these bills and in that I think he is wise because it is necessary that we have at least a longer period than two years for an experiment under those conditions. It is true, as the Senator from Philadelphia has said, there are quite a lot of things which can be improved upon, but there are objections to all new legislation until fully tried out, and the objections rectified by proper and close investigation. This is something that is satisfactory to men who have been for the last two years interfered with in the proper regulation of an industry that is necessary for the comfort of the traveling public of the State of Pennsylvania, and I trust that the bill will pass as the best outcome of the sort of conditions for the last two years existing in this State and at the next session of the Senate there can be possibly with the aid of the Senator and others of us some of the more drastic features of this whole labor proposition taken up after being properly considered for the next two years. I can see nothing objectionable to this bill except to the men who have been almost driven to the point of desperation in the last two years to try and make something out of this law that will at least give them some comfort and peace.

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, I heartily agree with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol. The aim of the hotel men to secure greater freedom in the conduct of their business, but I think they have made an error in dragging into this bill the lodging houses and the restaurants because as to them this bill is really more drastic and severe than the act of 1913. Pennsylvania is not the only State concerned in this kind of legislation. In 1911 the State of California passed a factory act covering numerous industries and omitting lodging houses. The question arose in that State and was taken to the Supreme Court of California and went up to the Supreme Court of the United States. The question involved was that it was an unreasonable discrimination to omit lodging houses and the Supreme Court of the United States in an opinion reported on Friday of last week in the Legal Intelligencer, which as the Senator knows, is the oldest Law Journal of the United States and the authority in this State; in an opinion reported last Friday in the Legal Intelligencer, Justice Hughes of the Supreme Court delivering the opinion said it was not an unreasonable discrimination to omit a lodging house from an act imposing limitations and regulations upon hotels. If these gentlemen interested in this act, the spirit of which I approve, omit lodging houses and restaurants, which are now brought under more drastic government than under the act of 1913, this bill would have had my unqualified support. As it is I am opposed to it because it puts a penalty which I have endeavored to point out upon these matters, lodging houses and restaurants, in a more drastic way than the act of 1913, and without being a prophet, I am sure that the act of 1913, sooner or later, will be amended by the Legislature of the State of Pennsylvania because I think it must be.

Mr. CHARLES A. SNYDER. Mr. President, not to delay the proceedings of the Senate, but I feel very much relieved at the new voice, or rather the voice from a new district. At the last session of the Legislature, when this bill was before the Senate, the protest came from the vicinity and locality. I believe, which the gentleman now represents against the kind of legislation that the radical Senate then proposed to enact, and the chief objection to those bills at the time was that this Senate was in favor of the oppression of women, and so on, and all the uplift newspapers in the state got their support and confirmation from the aristocratic circles of Philadelphia. This morning I wish to congratulate the gentleman that he has come to us with his uplifting hand to smite the voice and the weapons that were used heretofore in the uplifting or so-called uplifting bills that were unmaking Pensylvania. I am glad that he has joined the conservative and the same procedure that the Senate of Pennsylvania has always stood for, and I see a new era for the manufacturing and industrial people of the State of Pennsylvania. I simply wish to thank the gentleman and to voice the thanks of the Senators that were put in the position of upholding oppression and tyranny in the State of Pennsylvania, and I now feel that the newspapers and the champions of the heretofore Senate that was reported throughout this State as being against women and children that we now have a voice from this aristocratic district who has seen the light and therefore I am glad that we can all follow the lead in that light.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I see a very real objection and injustice in the conditions which are brought out by the Senator from the Germantown district. I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. McNichol, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, is there any real objection to taking out the word "voluntary" in the bill and leaving voluntary employment out of it.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I have no objection to any feature of the bill that would conform to the regulations of the Department of Labor, but I cannot see any use to us agreeing to taking anything out of the bill that does not comply with that requirement.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, the regulation of a bureau of labor would be founded upon the law if we left the voluntary employment out of the bill. The regulations of employment would not conflict.

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, that is a question which I think the lawyers ought to answer and not being a lawyer I would not like to agree to anything that would destroy the validity of the bill. If the lawyers say that it will not interfere with the constitutionality of the act I have no objection to taking it out.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jenkins.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jenkins, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, I will with pleasure.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Jenkins, if he reads anything in the act of 1913 limiting females to be employed in boarding houses, except section 3, clause 1, which reads as follows: "No female shall be employed or permitted to work for more than six hours continuously in or in connection with any hotel, boarding house or restaurant without an interval of at least forty-five minutes, and no period of less than forty-five minutes shall be deemed to interrupt a continuous period of work," and the proviso in the same section which is as follows, "Provided that whenever any female shall be employed or permitted to work in or in connection with any hotel or boarding house or restaurant for less than eight hours in any one day, the interval between working periods may be reduced to not less than thirty minutes.

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, I say yes to the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Beidleman. Any female operations in any household or restaurant or lodging house, hotels or factories are all included in the definition of the word establishment. In the first section of the act, Establishment by that act is defined to be any place in which a woman is employed for financial or any other compensation. That makes a lawyer's office, a physician's office, a university dean's office, every place in which a female stenographer is employed, come within the limits of that act and subject to that provision.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, do you not think it was the intentment of the Legislature that the lawyers and physicians should be in the same class as other people? Why should we be in a preferred class and be allowed to work our stenographers any longer than any one else?

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, because there should be a classification arising out of necessity. As I have said, the California bill attempted to govern a mill in which there were five hundred female operatives by the same law by which you govern a lawyer's office, or a lodging house. It was appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States and their decision is reported in the Legal Intelligencer, with which you are familiar. As to the constitutionality I had intended to limit this act by further amendment, had it been received, so as not to apply to any place or lodging house or restaurant in which ten or a lesser number of girls are employed, or any number that the Senate might see fit because the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, by decision in 171 Pennsylvania State in reference to the Anthracite Coal Mines Act, which said it shall not apply to places where less than ten are employed, has said that such a restriction is unconstitutional. I do not think there was anything in the amendment that has now gone overboard that would have rendered the act unconstitutional. I desire to help hotel employers but I do not think they should drag in these other industries. I wish this act could be referred back to Committee so that the points I have raised could be considered.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I also would like to interrogate the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Sproul.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Delaware, Mr. Sproul, allow himself to be interrogated.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator if inserting the word "voluntary" in this act as suggested by the Senator from Delaware would not negative the purpose of the act? Whether it has not been his experience that when you come down to the question of employment the inserting of the word "voluntary" brings the person within the meaning of the act because he would have to do something voluntarily or lose his position.

Mr. JENKINS. Mr. President, I cannot answer that. My attention was not called to this act until last Saturday night. I was not familiar with the act of 1913 at all. I say that unblushingly, because it does not impute any lack of ability in a lawyer to say that he is not familiar with the acts of 1913, because there were eight hundred and fifty acts.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

BILL POSTPONED.

Mr. BEIDLEMAN. Mr. President, in the light of this discussion which has arisen in the Senate this morning, on a question which none of the Senators seems to be versed upon, I move that the question, together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. SPROUL. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. McNICHOL. Mr. President, I heartily coincide with the motion and I think that my decision has been arrived at by the very able manner which the Senator from Philadelphia has pleaded his cause and the only thing I see in the question is that if the lawyers are unable to agree upon the constitutionality of the suggested amendment, that the postponement should take place until we get a decision from both sides as to whether we can comply with the Senator's request. I think that the district that has been referred to by Senator Snyder should be congratulated in sending such an able representative to the Senate.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in committee of the whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 141, entitled:

An Act to regulate the practice of optometry in Pennsylvania defining optometry and relating to the right to practice optometry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and making certain exceptions and providing a Bureau of Optometrical Education Examination and Licensure as a bureau of the Department of Public Instruction and means and methods whereby the right to practice optometry may be obtained and providing for the means to carry out the provisions of this act and providing for revocation or suspension of licenses given by said bureau and providing penalties for violations thereof and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent therewith

Almighty God, we thank Thee that we can come into Thy presence with the same freedom as a little child comes into the presence of the devoted parent; and as that devoted parent is so willing to grant the requests of the little child so Thou, O Father, art the more willing to grant our requests when we present them to Thee. We pray Thee then this morning that Thou wouldst let a divine blessing rest upon every member and employe of this House. We would pray for those who are absent on account of sickness, and may they realize how dependent they are upon Thee for the health of the body and the health of the soul. Bless them in their homes and bless them in their families, and may they speedily be restored to health, and may we all have ringing in our minds contsantly "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow us all the days of our lives, and we will dwell in the House of the Lord forever," we ask for Christ's sake, Amen.
